User's Guide to Federal Accidental Release Databases

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice of availability.

SUMMARY: This notice announces the public availability of an EPA document developed in coordination with the 16 federal agencies on the National Response Team (NRT) titled "User's Guide to Federal Accidental Release Databases." This document was produced to address impediments to accessing the various federal accidental release databases as identified by "A Review of Federal Authorities for Hazardous Materials Accident Safety," which was required under Section 112(r)(10) of the Clean Air Act.

DATES: This report is now available at the address indicated below.

ADDRESSES: Copies of the report may be obtained by phoning the Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-

Know Information Hot Line Telephone: (800) 424-9346 or (703) 412-9877 when calling local from Washington, DC area.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. David Chung, Chemical Emergency Preparedness and Prevention Office (Code 5101), U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street SW., Washington, DC 20460, Telephone 202-260-8942.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: EPA is announcing the public availability of a document titled "User's Guide to Federal Accidental Release Databases." The guide was produced to make the various federal accidental release databases more usable, available, and comparable. It addresses the problems with using the federal accidental release databases as identified by the report titled "A Review of Federal Authorities for Hazardous Materials Accident Safety," which was called for under section 112(r)(10) of the Clean Air Act, 42 U.S.C. 7412. Issuance of the user's guide does not represent final Agency action.

The user's guide provides information on the seven major federal accidental release databases maintained by the National Response Center (NRC), EPA, DOT, OSHA, and the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (ATSDR) so as to facilitate data interpretation, analysis, and comparison. The guide describes the information included in each of the databases and outlines some general search strategies to assist the user in formulating a search strategy and choosing the appropriate database. Also included in the user's guide are brief, descriptive profiles of the seven federal accidental release databases and discussions of future linking of databases to enable analysis of the databases in combination.

Jim Makris,

Director, Chemical Emergency Preparedness and Prevention Office.
